

Frazer Van Roekel – Director
Architect AAA

Frazer joined the board in the fall of 2024. He is excited to contribute to and engage with the architectural profession and its stakeholders through the advocacy that the CAA currently does.

Frazer is a Registered Architect in Alberta with over 13 years of experience and the current managing director of Van Roekel Architecture based in Calgary, Alberta. He has delivered many different types of projects and provides a variety of scopes of service in his practice ranging from schematic design through working documents and construction administration. The firm specializes in mid-sized, owner/operator projects including commercial and institutional projects with some residential projects as well, and has many great working relationships with clients, engineers, contractors, permit agencies and development departments at various municipalities.

When asked about why he went into architecture, Frazer's response is typically that "growing up on a farm in rural Alberta, there was always something to do, something to build and problems to solve. Creativity and a hands-on approach went a long way to getting the job done and inspired me to turn my passion into a career which is both challenging and rewarding. We have a goal to try learn something new every day and keep ourselves and the teams we work with inspired and moving towards a better future."
